

County Water Board To Deal With New York City Proposed

WHITE PLAINS—Representatives of 26 Westchester municipalities attending a Westchester Water Works Conference meeting here yesterday voted to recommend creation of a Westchester water authority, which would be empowered to negotiate with New York City and to set up distribution facilities in the county. There are 100 water districts in the county, of which 60 buy all their water from the New York City reservoir system, at rates varying from $16 per million gallons for Croton water to $105 for water from other reservoirs and aqueducts. The proposed authority approval of the Board of Supervisors and at least a majority of the municipalities. The committee includes: Richard M. McLaughlin, sanitary engineer of the Westchester Health Department; Anthony Sansone of Mamaroneck, secretary of the Westchester Village Officials Association; Arthur Richards, Larchmont Village Engineer, chairman of the water policy committee of the conference; Donald C. Wagner, Yonkers City Manager; Dan C. Nolan Jr., Greenburgh Town Engineer; Frederick B. Travis, New Castle Town Attorney, and Wayne D. Heydecker, Mount Vernon

William Jannott, superintendent of the Thornwood Water District and conference chairman, presided at the meeting. More than 50 persons attended, representing six cities, five towns and 15 villages.

Flax To Address Young Adult Zionists

Benjamin Flax of 133 Devoe Avenue, president of the Lincoln Park Zionist District, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Yonkers Young Adult Zionist Group Sunday at 8 P.M. at the Jewish Community Center, 122 South Broadway.

Mr. Flax will show colored slides he took while touring Israel this summer. The meeting will feature the election of officers. The slate is headed by Kenneth Wanderman of 14 Fairfield Place, Norbitz Weinberg of 3 Lawrence Street currently heads the group.

P.T.A. At School 18 Hears 'Ambassadors'

Miss Muriel Haslun and James J. Herrion, two of Yonkers' "Ambassadors" who spent last summer abroad, spoke at last night's meeting of the Parent Teacher Association of School Eighteen on Park Hill Avenue. They discussed education in West Germany and in Brazil.

Mrs. Julia B. Gregory, principal, welcomed the guests and a movie was shown by the Westchester Cancer Society. Fourth grade mothers headed by Mrs. Al Cohen were hostesses.

About 400 parents visited the classrooms in observance of Education Week.

FIRST AID COURSE

ARDSLEY—First Aid training will be given in Ardsley under the direction of Dr. George J. Newman, local American Red Cross first aid chairman. The course will be given to all those who desire it. Dr. Newman said.

ADDED TAXES and state of things in general make Mama and Papa Dachshund wonder how they're going to bring up their six "little sausages." Papa Timothy McBean, otherwise known as Willie, left, looks quite concerned, while Mama, Gee-gee Judy seems more placid. The dogs are owned by Mrs. Hedwig Becker of New Rochelle. Legal Profession Lampooned At County Lawyers' Dinner

By JOSEPH W. SHANNON GREENVILLE

Judges and lawyers put aside their dignity and cares last night to enjoy the third annual beefsteak dinner of the Westchester Bar Association, featured by a program of entertainment lightly lampooning the profession they follow. More than 300 members and guests, including groups from other counties of the 9th Judicial District, attended the dinner held at Schmidt's Farm.

Guests of Honor

In keeping with tradition there were no speeches. Paul L. Bleakley, association president, introduced the guests of honor, Appellate Division Presiding Justice Gerald Nolan, Associate Justices Frank F. Adel and Charles W. U. Sneed, Supreme Court Justices Lee Parsons Davis, Frank H. Coyne, Frederick G. Schmidt, James W. Bailey, J. Gordon Flannery, Elbert T. Gallagher and Robert Doscher, Official Referee George H. Taylor Jr. and Frederick P. Close, Surrogate Charles H. Griffiths, Children's Court Judge George W. Smyth, Federal Judge Gregory F. Noonan, County Judge Arthur D. Brennan, Putnam County Judge John R. Schwartz, Orange County Judge Raphael Egan, Rockland County Judge Herbert Hennion and Supreme Court Justice-elect Samuel W. Eager.

An orchestra made up of James R. Caruso, Joseph Lichtenhal, Robert McKeever, Davy Stevens, Warren W. Wells, White Plains Acting City Judge Cornelius Wood, and White Plains City Court Clerk Daniel Meehan, played during the evening and between the numbers of the program.

A Day at the Office

The show opened with a skit in which former County Judge Oliver K. King portrayed a lawyer, and Andrew Barnes his secretary, during a "typical" day at the office.

This was followed by a musical interlude featuring songs sung by Justice of Peace Robert J. Trainor and Edward Willing, and an instrumental trio made up of Har-

Park Designated On Maple Street

By unanimous action the Common Council Tuesday night adopted a local law designating property at 2 Maple Street for park and playground purposes.

The Councilmen also adopted an ordinance changing the name of Midland Terrace between Ramsey Road and Travers Avenue to Quentin Charlton Terrace in memory of Lieutenant Charlton, pilot of a Thunderbolt fighter plane missing in action in September, 1943, in the European Theater of Operations. Lieutenant Charlton was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Charlton of 73 Sherman Avenue.

More Atomic Tests Planned In Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Atomic Energy Commission officials today awaited the weather man's go-ahead for another series of nuclear experiments on the Nevada desert. The forthcoming tests are not expected to be as spectacular as the group of five atomic blasts set off between Oct. 22 and Nov. 5.

The second series of experiments was set for yesterday morning, but high winds and storm conditions near the Yucca Flat test site forced postponement of the first blast. No troops will be involved in the pending series. The AEC already has announced that the second phase of experiments will be devoted entirely to weapons effects on various structures and animals. It may include several tests spaced out over a period of weeks, but none is expected to be as brilliant or powerful as the earlier varieties.

A CORRECTION

ARMONK—The body of Mrs. Erwin J. Magill, forty-six, of Whippswill Road, who died Tuesday night at Roper Hospital, Charleston, S. C., of injuries received in an automobile accident, has been returned here for services. Mrs. Magill was incorrectly referred to as Mrs. Erwin J. Kaiser in yesterday's issue of this newspaper. She was the former Lillian Kaiser, daughter of Charles Kaiser of White Plains and the late Mrs. Kaiser. Her former marriage to Eugene Kientle terminated with his death. Mr. Magill, who survives, is a television producer. He formerly resided in Rye. Survivors also include a daughter and two sons, Miss Marie Kientle, Robert and Charles Kientle, all of the home address.

Dinner At Waldorf To Honor W. C. Handy, Blues Composer

Tonight in the Jade Room of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City, friends and associates of W. C. Handy will honor the composer of the "St. Louis Blues" at a dinner celebrating his seventy-eighth birthday.

Mr. Handy, although he has been almost completely without sight for 10 years, commutes daily from his home at 19 Chester Drive to his music publishing offices at 1641 Broadway in New York.

Tonight's birthday dinner will also introduce to the public the W. C. Handy Foundation for the Blind, a new national organization which will give special attention to the Negro blind.

Mr. Handy has been associated with the organization for two years. The preamble from its chartering papers reads: "Forty-two years ago for a political campaign I wrote a song that appealed generally to my own people, 'Memphis Blues.' The music was Negro but it caught the fancy of the South and later inspired the 'St. Louis Blues.' " "Negro music became part of American life and as a result influenced the music of the world. This is the picture I have in my
